

Matchmaking is a free service that helps you find exactly what you're looking for at JIS. All you have to do is select your interests during registration and we will provide you with personalized exhibitor recommendations.

Matchmaking Program Overview

Input your product/service interests and we will recommend JIS exhibitors tailored to your interests.

Make the most of your time at JIS by planning an agenda that starts with visiting your custom recommendations.

Extend the duration of the show by learning about valuable business contacts before you even arrive at JIS.

Get excited about meeting new companies that offer the products and services you've been looking for!

How Your Information is Managed

During the registration process, you will self-select the different product categories you're interested in. Our matchmaking technology will provide you with personalized recommendations based on your preferences and interests.

You can opt out of providing your information to derive personalized matches by unchecking the box during the registration process. If you choose to opt out of the matchmaking program, you will continue to be presented with exhibitor recommendations, but they will be based on our most popular results instead of your interests.

How Else Can You Find Specific Products/Services Ahead of the Show?

Filter by product category while browsing the online exhibitor list to discover the products/services offered by participating JIS exhibitors.
